Plaintiff Ramon Fontanez (“Plaintiff”) brings this class action on an individual basis, and on behalf of all others similarly situated, for declaratory relief, injunctive relief, and compensatory damages—including statutory and punitive damages—against defendant Playmakar, Inc. (“Defendant”), and alleges upon information and belief, personal knowledge of Plaintiff, and the investigation of counsel, as follows:

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. Plaintiff is a visually impaired and legally blind person¹ who brings this civil rights class action against Defendant for its failure to design, construct, maintain, and operate its website to be fully accessible to—and independently usable by—Plaintiff and other blind or visually impaired people who use screen-reading software. Plaintiff asserts this action individually and on behalf of all other visually impaired and/or legally blind individuals in the United States who have attempted to access Defendant’s website and have been denied access to the equal enjoyment of the goods offered on the website during the past three years from the date of the filing of the complaint (the “Class” and “Class Period”).

2. On June 20, 2022, September 29, 2022, and October 5, 2022, Plaintiff browsed and attempted to transact business on Defendant’s website, Playmakar.com (“website” or “Defendant’s website”). Plaintiff has been looking for ways to assist his mother with her muscle pain, so Plaintiff visited Defendant’s website and became highly interested in the All-Star Pack MVP mini-Percussion Massage System (“All Star Massage Pack”). The All-Star Massage Pack combines a percussion massager, two power gel roll-ons, and a hot and cold pack to assist in muscle pain and relaxation.

3. Defendant develops and sells FDA cleared, “medical grade athletic recovery and movement optimization products for athletes, weekend warriors, and fitness enthusiasts.” Defendant’s products are used not only by professional athletes but also made affordable and available to individuals at any level of activity. Plaintiff maintains a strong desire to purchase these items as all these highlighted features of the All-Star Massage Pack can help his mother.

4. On June 20, 2022, September 29, 2022, and October 5, 2022, Defendant’s website was not accessible to Plaintiff. Defendant’s website remains inaccessible to Plaintiff and to those who are visually impaired and or legally blind. Despite Plaintiff’s continued inability to complete a purchase, Plaintiff’s desire to purchase All Star Massage Pack remains. In fact, as soon as the barriers on Defendant’s website are cured, Plaintiff will complete his purchase.

5. The website has the following accessibility issues that are preventing Plaintiff, and all other visually impaired and or legally blind individuals, from making a purchase there:

(a) The screen reader fails to read some of the links on the page. As a result, Plaintiff is unaware what many of the links are for. Furthermore, Plaintiff was unable to click on some other links using the screen reader. This delayed and prevented Plaintiff’s ability to navigate the website, as he attempted to purchase his desired product.

(b) Alternative text (“Alt-text”) is invisible code embedded beneath an image that describes the image in words. For a screen-reader to properly describe an image to a blind individual, there must be alt-text coded with each picture. Alt-text does not affect the visual presentation of the image or impact a sighted individual’s ability to view the image. Defendant’s website contains many images without alt-text, including the desired product, thus the screen reader cannot accurately vocalize descriptions of the images to Plaintiff or other class members. As a result, Plaintiff and other blind customers are unable to determine what is on the website, browse the products, and make purchases. Plaintiff is unable to make informed decisions and is prevented from purchasing items as a sighted individual.

(c) According to WCAG 2.1 Guideline 2.4.1, accessible websites must have a mechanism to bypass blocks of content that are repeated on multiple webpages because requiring blind users to extensively tab before reaching the main content is an unacceptable barrier to accessing the website. On Defendant's website, Plaintiff must tab through every navigation bar option and footer in an attempt to reach the desired service. Thus, the website's inaccessible design denies, delays and prevents Plaintiff and blind customers from independently purchasing items as a sighted individual.

(d) The website buttons, links, and elements are not in an accessible format, which prevents screen readers from relaying their purpose. One example of this issue is Plaintiff's inability to locate the shopping cart because the screen reader is unable to read the elements purpose.

(e) Defendant's website prevents Plaintiff and other class members from receiving the benefit of the pop-up. When visiting Defendant's website, a pop-up window appears inviting customers to sign up for a discount. Sighted individuals can type their email into the text field to claim the promotion. Unfortunately, Defendant's website does not have the proper design to allow screen reader users to fill in the form. As a result, Plaintiff and other class members cannot obtain the benefit of the discount. Additionally, the pop-up is difficult to close with the screen reader. These issues deter, delay, and prevent Plaintiff from adequately achieving a discount, viewing the website, and completing a purchase all of which is not a problem for sighted individuals.

6. As a result of these continuing accessibility issues, Defendant violates Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (“ADA”), 42 U.S.C. § 12101 et seq., and the New York City Human Rights Law (“NYCHRL”), N.Y.C. Administrative Code §§ 8-101 et seq.

7. Plaintiff and the Class bring this action against Defendant seeking, inter alia, a preliminary and permanent injunction, other declaratory relief, statutory damages, actual and punitive damages, pre-judgment and post-judgment interest, and reasonable attorneys’ fees and expenses.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

8. This Court has subject-matter jurisdiction over the Plaintiff’s ADA claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331.

9. This Court has supplemental jurisdiction over the Plaintiff’s NYCHRL claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367.

10. This Court is empowered to issue declaratory relief under 28 U.S.C. §§ 2201 and 2202.

11. Venue is proper in this judicial district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391(b)(2) and (c) because: (i) Defendant’s unlawful course of conduct occurred in large part in this District; and (ii) Plaintiff attempted to use the website in this District.

12. Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in this District. Defendant operates and distributes its products throughout the United States, including to consumers and others in this District. Specifically, the All-Star Pack is available on Defendant’s website for delivery to New York. It was within this District that Plaintiff is being denied the full use and enjoyment of the goods offered on Defendant’s website. As such, it is here that Defendant is committing a substantial part of the acts or omissions that caused injury to Plaintiff and the Class in violation of the ADA and the NYCHRL.

PARTIES

Plaintiff

13. Plaintiff is a resident of New York, New York. Plaintiff is a blind, visually impaired, handicapped person and a member of a protected class of individuals as defined under 42 U.S.C. § 12102(1)-(2) – and the regulations implementing the ADA set forth at 28 CFR §§ 36.101 et seq. – and as defined under the NYCHRL.

Defendant

14. Defendant is a company registered in Texas and Delaware. Defendant conducts business in New York through its website, which is a place of public accommodation as defined under 42 U.S.C. § 12181(7).

SUBSTANTIVE ALLEGATIONS

The Internet, which is an integral part of modern society, may only be accessed by visually impaired individuals through screen-readers

15. For sighted, blind, and visually impaired persons alike, the Internet has become a critical source of information and an invaluable tool for shopping, conducting business, entertainment, and countless other activities. Per a study by the MIT Technology Review published in 2018, the average American spends 23.6 hours of every week online. According to studies cited by CNBC, as of 2018, Americans spent 234 million hours shopping online during the average workday. Thus, in today's tech-savvy, instantaneous world of online commerce, blind and visually impaired people must have the ability to access websites so that they too can enjoy the same convenience and savings that online shopping provides to sighted New Yorkers. The technology that aides blind and visually impaired Internet users to do this is known as screen-reading software. In short, this software vocalizes the visual information found on a website so that blind and visually impaired can understand it.

16. The Covid-19 Pandemic highlights how critical the Internet is for everyday living. At the start of the pandemic, companies across the nation were forced to shut down physical locations. Nonetheless, many major life activities were able to continue on throughout this time, albeit virtually, – this included schooling, court room procedures, the selling of products and or services, and much more. This need to move online caused a major uptick in the use of the Internet. According to Pew Research, in 2021 three out of ten American adults are almost constantly online, up from approximately two in ten in 2015. This increase in overall use by Americans is causing a massive shift in how consumers make purchases. The financial firm UBS is projecting that, by 2026, e-commerce sales will account for 25% of all sales (up from 18% in 2021) and that up to 50,000 physical retail stores will close.

17. In 2017, the Centers for Disease Control (“CDC”) estimated that the blind population in the United States reached approximately 1.7 million. The American Foundation for the Blind’s website states that the 2019 American Community Survey (conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau) identified an estimated 388,524 New Yorkers with vision difficulty.

18. To ensure that blind and visually impaired individuals are able to use computers and devices, several screen-reading software programs have been created for them. Some of these programs are available for purchase and other machines have built-in integrated software. NonVisual Desktop Access (“NVDA”) is currently one of the most popular screen-reading software programs available.

19. NVDA has many features for those who are blind and visually impaired and the software supports many popular applications including Firefox, Google Chrome, Microsoft Word, email applications, and music players. The built-in speech synthesizer within NVDA dictates text on a screen in over 50 languages. When a website is properly coded, blind and visually impaired individuals are able to use NVDA and other screen-readers to navigate a website and make purchases there like sighted individual can.

A company's website must accommodate the use of screen readers

20. NVDA, and other screen-reading programs like it, can only read the code that a website provides. As a result, if a website is not properly designed and coded, the screen-reader will not be able to relay information on the website to the user of the screen-reader. Without such coding, blind and visually impaired users cannot navigate a website on their own.

21. The international website standards organization, the World Wide Web Consortium, known universally as W3C, has published an updated version (version 2.1) of the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines ("WCAG"). WCAG 2.1 is a set of well-established guidelines promulgated to ensure that websites are accessible to blind and visually impaired people. Non-compliant websites usually contain numerous common access barriers that prevent the blind and visually impaired from enjoying the Internet in the same way sighted individuals do.

Defendant's website is discriminatory as it contains access barriers

22. Defendant develops and sells FDA cleared "medical grade athletic recovery and movement optimization products for athletes, weekend warriors, and fitness enthusiasts." Defendant's products are used not only by the professional athletes but also made affordable and available to individuals at any level of activity. Additionally, Defendant ensures that its products are crafted using "relevant and proven cutting-edge technology. Defendant offers these products on its Website so that, inter alia, the general public throughout the nation, including in New York, can transact business on it.

23. Plaintiff is visually impaired and/or legally blind. Plaintiff uses the NVDA screen-reader to access websites on the Internet. As described above, during Plaintiff's repeated visits to Defendant's website—the first occurring on June 20, 2022, the second time occurring on September 29, 2022, and most recently on October 5, 2022—Plaintiff encountered the access barriers that denied Plaintiff full and equal access to Defendant's website and the items sold there. These access barriers were the reason that Plaintiff has been repeatedly denied the opportunity to purchase the All Star Massage Pack and other products available on the website.

24. Plaintiff still wants to purchase the All Star Massage Pack and he intends to return to the website to complete the desired purchase All Star Massage Pack as soon as the accessibility barriers are cured.

25. However, currently, it is Defendant's policy and practice to deny Plaintiff and the Class access to its website and to deny them the ability to purchase the affordable, innovative, and available sports therapy equipment offered there to the general public. Due to Defendant's failure and refusal to remove access barriers to its website, Plaintiff and the Class have been—and currently are being—denied equal access to the website and the affordable, innovative, and available sports therapy equipment offered thereon.

26. As Defendant's website is available through the Internet, and thus available around the clock from any Internet-connected device, Plaintiff may easily return to the website and purchase the affordable, innovative, and available sports therapy equipment once the barriers to accessibility are removed. Plaintiff awaits the correction of the accessibility barriers, so that his desired purchase may be completed.

Defendant must remove the website's accessibility barriers

27. The access barriers Plaintiff encountered have caused a denial of Plaintiff's full and equal access on June 20, 2022, September 29, 2022, and October 5, 2022. This denial prevented

Plaintiff in the past, and continues to deter Plaintiff presently, from completing a purchase on the website until such access barriers are cured. If the website were equally accessible to all, as required under the ADA, Plaintiff and the Class could independently navigate the website and complete a desired transaction as sighted individuals do.

28. As Plaintiff has been repeatedly denied the ability to make a purchase on Defendant's website, Plaintiff has actual knowledge of the access barriers that make Defendant's website inaccessible and not independently unusable by blind and visually impaired people. This denial of access to the affordable, innovative, and available sports therapy equipment offered on Defendant's website demonstrates that Defendant is engaging in acts of intentional discrimination. Especially because simple compliance with the WCAG 2.1 Guidelines would provide Plaintiff and the Class equal access to the website. Currently, Plaintiff alleges, without limitation, that Defendant is engaging in the following acts of intentional discrimination:

- (a) constructing and maintaining a website that is inaccessible to visually impaired individuals, including Plaintiff and the Class;
- (b) failing to construct and maintain a website that is sufficiently intuitive so as to be equally accessible to visually impaired individuals, including Plaintiff and the Class; and
- (c) failing to take actions to correct these access barriers in the face of substantial harm and discrimination to blind and visually impaired consumers (a protected class), including Plaintiff and the Class.

29. Defendant uses standards, criteria or methods of administration that have the effect of discriminating or perpetuating the discrimination of others, as alleged herein. To correct Defendant's current inaccessibility, Defendant must retain a qualified consultant acceptable to Plaintiff to assist Defendant in complying with WCAG 2.1 guidelines. This is necessary as Defendant lacks a corporate policy or a current qualified individual to aid in this realm, as shown through the current inaccessibility of their website. Defendant must cooperate with the agreed upon consultant to:

- (a) train its employees and agents who develop the website on accessibility compliance under the WCAG 2.1 guidelines;
- (b) regularly check the accessibility of the website under the WCAG 2.1 guidelines;
- (c) regularly test user accessibility by blind or vision-impaired persons to ensure that Defendant's website complies under the WCAG 2.1 guidelines; and
- (d) develop an accessibility policy (clearly posted on its website(s)) with contact information for users to report accessibility-related problems.

30. If the website were accessible, Plaintiff and the Class would be able to independently purchase the sports therapy equipment Defendant sells there, as every sighted individual can. Defendant has, upon information and belief, invested substantial sums in developing and maintaining its website and has generated significant revenue thereon. The revenues procured by Defendant far exceed the associated cost of making the website equally accessible to visually impaired consumers.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

31. Plaintiff brings this action as a nationwide class action pursuant to Rules 23(a) and (b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure ("Fed. R. Civ. P."), both individually and on behalf of the Class. Plaintiff also seeks certification of a sub-class of all visually impaired and/or legally blind individuals in the City of New York who have attempted to access Defendant's website and have been denied access to the equal enjoyment of the goods offered on the website during the Class Period (the “NYC Sub-Class”).²

32. Excluded from the Class are Defendant, any entity in which Defendant has a controlling interest, and the officers, directors, affiliates, legal representatives, heirs, successors, subsidiaries, and/or assigns of any such individual or entity.

33. Upon information and belief, there are hundreds of members in the Class who have suffered from Defendant’s conduct complained of herein during the Class Period. Accordingly, joinder is impracticable pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 23(a)(1).

34. Common issues of fact or law predominate over individual issues within the meaning of Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 23(a)(2). Common issues of law and fact include, but are not limited to, whether:

- (a) the website is a place of “public accommodation” under the ADA;
- (b) the website is a “place or provider of public accommodation” under the NYCHRL; and
- (c) the website denies the full and equal enjoyment of its products, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations to people with visual disabilities, violating the ADA and/or NYCHRL.

35. Plaintiff’s interests are typical of, and not antagonistic to the interests of, the Class and the claims arising out of Defendant’s common uniform course of conduct are all based upon the same facts and legal theories.

36. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Class. Plaintiff has retained competent counsel experienced with class actions and civil rights litigation who intend to vigorously prosecute this action. Plaintiff has similar legal bases for statutory and punitive damages that are sought on behalf of members of the Class in this action. Class certification of the claims is appropriate under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(2) because Defendant has acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to the Class, making appropriate both declaratory and injunctive relief with respect to Plaintiff and the Class as a whole.

37. Alternatively, class certification is appropriate under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3). A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy since a multiplicity of actions could result in an unwarranted burden on the court system and could create the possibility of inconsistent judgments. Moreover, a class action will allow redress for many persons whose claims would otherwise be too small to litigate individually. There will be no difficulty in the management of this action as a class action.

38. Class members' identities can be identified by Defendant's records. Plaintiff reserves the right to amend the definition of the Class at any point of the litigation, especially after being provided the opportunity to review the documents and records produced in discovery.

COUNT I

Against Defendant for Violations of the ADA, 42 U.S.C. §§ 12101 et seq., on behalf of Plaintiff and the Class

39. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the preceding allegations as though fully set forth herein.

40. Section 302(a) of Title III of the ADA, 42 U.S.C. § 12101 et seq., provides:

No individual shall be discriminated against on the basis of disability in the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations of any place of public accommodation by any person who owns, leases (or leases to), or operates a place of public accommodation.

42 U.S.C. § 12182(a).

41. Defendant’s website is a place of public accommodation within the definition of 42 U.S.C. § 12181(7). The website is a service that is offered to the general public, and as such, must be equally accessible to all potential consumers.

42. Under 42 U.S.C. § 12182(b)(1)(A)(i), it is unlawful discrimination to deny individuals with disabilities the opportunity to participate in – or benefit from – the products, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations of an entity.

43. Under 42 U.S.C. § 12182(b)(1)(A)(ii), it is unlawful discrimination to deny individuals with disabilities an opportunity to participate in or benefit from the products, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodation, which is equal to the opportunities afforded to other individuals.

44. Under 42 U.S.C. § 12182(b)(2)(A)(ii)-(iii), unlawful discrimination also includes, among other things:

“failure to make reasonable modifications in policies, practices, or procedures, when such modifications are necessary to afford such goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, or accommodations to individuals with disabilities . . . and a failure to take such steps as may be necessary to ensure that no individual with a disability is excluded...”

45. Plaintiff is a member of a protected class of persons who has a physical disability that substantially limits the major life activity of sight within the meaning of 42 U.S.C. §§ 12102(1)(A)-(2)(A).

46. Furthermore, Plaintiff has been denied full and equal access to the website, has not been provided goods that are provided to other patrons who are not disabled, and has been provided goods that are inferior to the services provided to non-disabled persons.

47. Defendant has failed to take any prompt and equitable steps to remedy its discriminatory conduct. These violations are ongoing.

COUNT II

Against Defendant for Violations of the New York City Human Rights Law, N.Y.C. Administrative Code §§ 8-101 et seq., on behalf of Plaintiff and the NYC Sub-Class

48. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the preceding allegations as though fully set forth herein.

49. N.Y.C. Administrative Code § 8-107(4)(a) provides that:

“It shall be an unlawful discriminatory practice for any person, being the owner, franchisor, franchisee, lessor, lessee, proprietor, manager, superintendent, agent or employee of any place or provider of public accommodation, because of . . . disability . . . directly or indirectly, to refuse, withhold from or deny to such person, the full and equal enjoyment on equal terms and conditions, of any of the accommodations, advantages, facilities or privileges of the place or provide of public accommodation.”

50. Defendant’s website is a “sales establishment” and “public accommodation” within the definition of N.Y.C. Admin. Code § 8-102(9). Defendant owns and operates its website, making it a “person” within the meaning of N.Y.C. Admin. Code § 8-102(1).

51. By maintaining a website with accessibility barriers, Defendant violates N.Y.C. Administrative Code § 8-107(4)(a). This inaccessibility denies blind patrons full and equal access to the facilities, products, and services that Defendant makes available to the non-disabled public.

52. Under N.Y.C. Admin. Code § 8-107(15)(a), Defendant is required to:

“make reasonable accommodation to the needs of persons with disabilities . . . it is an unlawful discriminatory practice for any person prohibited by the provisions of [§ 8-107 et seq.] from discriminating on the basis of disability not to provide a reasonable accommodation to enable a person with a disability to . . . enjoy the right or rights in question provided that the disability is known or should have been known by the covered entity.”

53. Defendant’s actions constitute willful intentional discrimination against the Sub-Class on the basis of a disability in violation of the N.Y.C. Administrative Code § 8-107(4)(a) and

§ 8-107(15)(a) in that Defendant has constructed and maintained a website with accessibility barriers and failed to take action to fix the access barriers. These violations are ongoing.

54. As such, under § 8-107(4)(a) and/or its implementing regulations, Defendant discriminates, and will continue in the future to discriminate, against Plaintiff and the NYC Sub-Class. Unless the Court enjoins Defendant from continuing to engage in these unlawful practices, Plaintiff and the NYC Sub-Class will continue to suffer irreparable harm. Plaintiff is also entitled to compensatory damages, as well as civil penalties and fines under §§ 8-120(8) and 8-126(a) for each offense, as well as punitive damages pursuant to § 8-502.

COUNT III

Against Defendant for Declaratory Relief, on behalf of Plaintiff and the Class

55. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the preceding allegations as though fully set forth herein.

56. Defendant's website contains access barriers denying blind customers full and equal access to the products. The website violates 42 U.S.C. §§ 12182, et seq., and N.Y.C. Admin. Code § 8-107, et seq., which prohibit discrimination against the blind.

57. A judicial declaration is, therefore, necessary, and appropriate.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands a judgment:

(a) awarding Plaintiff statutory money damages, actual damages, and punitive damages, including pre-judgment and post-judgment interest;

(b) granting a preliminary and permanent injunction requiring Defendant to take all the steps necessary to make its website fully comply with the requirements set forth in the ADA and NYCHRL;

(c) providing a declaration that Defendant owns, maintains and/or operates its website in a manner that discriminates against the blind and visually impaired;

(d) certifying the Class and the NYC Sub-Class under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a) & (b)(2) and/or (b)(3), appointing Plaintiff as class representative, and Plaintiff's attorneys as class counsel;

(e) awarding attorneys' fees and costs, and other relief; and

(f) awarding such other relief as this Court deems just and proper.

JURY DEMAND

Plaintiff demands a trial by jury.
